“I was introduced to Craig King during the NACBA conference in 2010, and was impressed from the first time I met him. Our church had produced three business directories prior to this and they were functional, but just OK. When I saw the product Kingdom Press could do for us, I got excited.

Their team was very professional and treated our congregation with great care. It was a simple process and we now have an attractive business directory to give our people, and a great resource online as well. We still have people wanting to get involved in our online directory, and it is a great way to get to know the business leaders in our church.

I would highly recommend putting together a business directory for your church and using Kingdom Press to make it happen.”
