“When we received the call from Kingdom Press about creating a business directory for our church, it didn’t take long to say yes. Having known Craig for 20 years, I knew that I was dealing with a man of character and being offered a product that would benefit our church. He immediately managed the project with excellence. His contact with our business people was very well received, and the directory has been a blessing to our congregation.

In addition, we were able to identify and implement a much needed ministry. Our staff works diligently to meet the needs of children, students and small groups, but we somehow tend to overlook the most influential people. Business leaders touch the lives of individuals in the community every day. God has raised these leaders up to be the church where people spend most of their time; in the marketplace. It’s time we encourage and equip the people who have the potential to reach thousands in our community. By partnering with Christians In Business, we have been able to do this. They helped us set up small groups where leaders share their greatest challenges and learn to be God’s agents in the marketplace.

This opportunity extends the presence of our church into the community and we are expecting tremendous rewards from it.”
